Before you hire a consultant

Start with Jersey Business

Jersey Business describes its service as free, independent, confidential advice and support for businesses in Jersey, from start-up founders to established firms in every sector. It is a sensible first call before you pay for outside help.

Get a quotation, not just an estimate

gov.je consumer guidance explains that a quotation is a fixed price and legally binding, while an estimate is not. Ask whether there is a charge for the quote and read the terms before you accept. Belonging to a trade body doesn't on its own guarantee good work.

Under the Supply of Goods and Services (Jersey) Law 2009, a business supplying a service must carry it out with reasonable care and skill, and within a reasonable time if no time was agreed.

If they will handle your customers' data

A consultant who handles personal data on your behalf acts as your processor. Article 19 of the Data Protection (Jersey) Law 2018 says the contract with a processor must be in writing, and the JOIC's guidance says you need a separate contract for each processor.

Investment advice must be regulated

Under the Financial Services (Jersey) Law 1998, investment business, which includes arranging deals in investments and advising on the merits of a particular investment, can only be carried on by a registered business, with some exemptions. If a corporate finance adviser is helping you raise money or sell shares, ask whether they are registered and check the JFSC register, or ask the JFSC.

Listings are free and in alphabetical order. Jersey Web is not connected with these businesses unless a listing says so: check details with each business before you book. Guidance checked 15 November 2026.
