What Jersey pet owners need to know

Dogs need a licence every year

Under the Dogs (Jersey) Law 1961, every dog aged 6 months or more must be licensed each year. When we checked, a dog licence cost £10 per dog and had to be renewed by 31 January, or £20 after that. You can apply online through your parish on comite.je. You must be 16 or over to hold one.

Dogs on the beach

gov.je says dogs can be exercised on beaches at any time from 1 October to 30 April. From 1 May to 30 September, they must be on a lead between 10.30am and 6pm. You must clean up after your dog, on the beach and everywhere else, or you can be fined.

Check your vet is registered

Under the Veterinary Surgeons (Jersey) Law 1999, only a recognised vet can practise in Jersey, which means holding "UK Practising" registration with the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons. You can check a vet on the RCVS's Find a Vet register.

Groomers, kennels and pet shops need a licence

Under the Animal Welfare (Jersey) Law 2004, an Animal Welfare Licence is needed to run a business boarding cats or dogs, a pet grooming business (including mobile units) or a business selling animals as pets. Dog walking and daycare aren't on that list. If in doubt, ask the business whether it is licensed.

Travelling with your pet

Between Jersey and the UK, gov.je says pets need no pet passport, documents or vaccinations, though dogs staying in the UK for more than 30 days must be microchipped and registered there. For France and the rest of the EU, Jersey residents need an Animal Health Certificate from their vet for each trip, with a microchip and a rabies vaccination at least 21 days before travel.

Microchipping

Microchipping isn't compulsory in Jersey yet. The new Animal Welfare (Jersey) Law 2026 is due to come into force later in 2026 or early 2027, and the Government is proposing an order requiring all cats and dogs to be microchipped and registered. If your dog is already chipped, keep your details up to date with the database.
