Before you hire a roofer in Jersey

Roof work in Jersey can need planning permission, bye-law permission, a road permit and a wildlife check. A quick guide to which, and when.

When re-roofing needs permission

Replacing a roof covering doesn't usually need planning permission, unless the property is listed or a pitched roof is changing to a material other than natural slate or clay tile. A flat roof can be re-covered in any material.

Building bye-law permission is needed if more than half of the roof covering is replaced, or if the new covering is heavier than the old one, so the structure can be checked.

Skylights

Skylights always need bye-law permission. They don't usually need planning permission, unless the property is listed, skylights and dormers would cover more than half of the roof slope, or a skylight within 10 metres of a boundary sits lower than 1.7 metres above the floor inside.

Solar panels

Solar panels don't need bye-law permission, apart from any hot water storage that goes with them. They don't need planning permission if they cover no more than 90% of the roof slope, stand no more than 20cm proud of a pitched roof, and the property isn't listed. Jersey Electricity also has to approve the system before it's installed; our electricians page explains how.

Scaffolding and skips on the road

Scaffolding or a skip on a public road needs a permit under the Road Works and Events \(Jersey\) Law 2016, from the Government or the parish, depending on who owns the road. In St Helier, only approved scaffolding contractors can get one, and some town roads have summer restrictions. Ask your roofer who is arranging it, and allow time.

Bats and nesting birds

All bats are protected under the Wildlife (Jersey) Law 2021, and so are their roosts, even when the bats aren't there. The Government of Jersey asks you to contact it for advice first if roof work might affect bats. Nesting birds are protected during the breeding season, and swallow and house martin nests all year round.

Working at height

Roof work falls under the construction regulations, which cover work at height and fragile roofs. The Health and Safety Inspectorate's guidance is to avoid work at height where it reasonably can be. Ask any roofer how they will do the job safely, with scaffolding or edge protection, before you agree a price.

Listings are free and in alphabetical order. Jersey Web is not connected with these businesses unless a listing says so: check details with each business before you book. Guidance checked 1 October 2026.
